A Message to Gladiolus Lovers:

INSTRUCTIONS FOR PLANTING GLADIOLUS BULBS

Gladioli are very easy to grow and will do well in almost any ordinary garden soil. If planted in the richest place of garden and given plenty of sun and moisture, they will, however, repay you with extra-large blooms and gorgeous colors.

To obtain a continuation of blooms during the greatest part of the season, it is advisable to plant at intervals of ten days, from the middle of April until the end of June.

Plant the bulbs 4 inches deep in heavy soil and 5 or 6 inches deep in light soil. To get your soil in good condition it will be necessary to spade deep and pulverize thoroughly. It is preferable to work in stable manure in the fall if possible. If not, it is advisable to use fertilizer or bone meal in the spring, such as is used for growing potatoes, being careful to mix the fertilizer well with the soil so that the bulbs will not come in direct contact with it.

Many people make the mistake of planting the bulbs too shallow, making it necessary to stake or tie up the flowers during the blooming time. This will not be necessary if my instructions for deep planting are followed.

I shall also be glad to furnish you with any other information you may require to grow Gladioli successfully.

NAMED VARIETIES OF PRIMULINUS TYPE

Not enough can be said about these beautiful strains of Gladioli. The flowers are very graceful, having retained all the daintiness of their Primulinus parents, even to the hood formed by the drooping of the upper petal. No other race of Gladioli contains such varied and beautiful tints of yellow, orange, saffron, and pink. The stems are slender but strong and tall. One bulb will often produce several flower spikes, thereby prolonging the flowering season considerably. They are especially fine for dainty decorations.

The following is a choice selection from some of the very distinct new strains.
